

CWSRF Webinar Series

The Clean Water State Revolving Fund: Flexible Funding for the Urban Tree Canopy

Since its inception, the Clean Water State Revolving Fund (CWSRF) program has provided over $118 billion to water quality projects nationwide, making it EPA's biggest water quality funding source. While the CWSRF has traditionally funded publicly-owned treatment works, it can also fund green infrastructure including tree planting and land acquisition for water quality improvement and protection.

Join us on Wednesday March 29th from 1:30—3:00 p.m. EDT to learn about how the CWSRF can be used as a funding source for green infrastructure and urban forestry projects—a cost effective way to reduce combined sewage flooding problems. Heather Knizhnik of the NJ Department of Environmental Protection will provide an overview of the CWSRF program in New Jersey and how they support green infrastructure projects. Andy Kricun of the Camden County Municipal Utilities Authority will discuss the Camden SMART Initiative and how the city of Camden, NJ utilized the CWSRF as well as an innovative partnership to manage the city's stormwater. Jessica Franzini with the NJ Tree Foundation will discuss their role in the partnership and highlight several of the projects made possible with CWSRF funding.

We hope you will join us on March 29, 2017 from 1:30 to 3:00 p.m. EDT for this exciting discussion!
