I am writing today to officially declare my opposition of the proposed WOTUS rules as offered and approved by the Obama Administration. Clearly, water rules as defined by the Navigable water rules served us well and are onerous enough. Rural counties are stretched thin for resources for road and bridge maintenance and the last thing we need is more interference and time delays from the Corp.

As the Chief Executive of Polk County Arkansas, it is my responsibility to maintain over 1,000 miles of road, 250 bridges, and thousands of drainage culverts. Having costly overreaching regulation from the federal government is so burdensome, we could not begin to make ends meet if WOTUS rules were upheld.

Please use common sense when establishing new guidelines.
