

Q&A

- U.S. EPA: If times and temperatures were suitable for the pathogen they are trying to destroy, and depending on the compost, it could approach 50 degrees C. Have you considered that?
  - Hong Chen: It depends on the volume of the site. If you treat material from the greenhouse, it is okay, but in some cases, 2–3 inches of soil is a large volume.