1 INTRODUCTION

The Pesticide Product Information System (PPIS) contains information concerning all pesticide products registered in the United States. It includes registrant name and address, chemical ingredients, signal word, product names, distributor brand names, site/pest uses, pesticidal type, formulation code, and registration status.

These Extensible Markup Language (XML) files are being made available to the public to enable interested parties to download all or any part of the pesticide product information, and develop customized queries and reports. Organizations often request that the Office of Pesticide Programs provide copies of these files in slightly different formats, requiring OPP staff to perform time consuming special retrievals. By presenting these files in a standard format, OPP is providing the same information in the same format to all interested parties.

1.1 Filename format

The PPIS format specification (this document) is versioned using a version numbering schema of type XX-XX-XXXX. It is composed of a date format, MM-DD-YYYY. The file name convention of the PPIS format specification is therefore

PPIS-Data-Standard-XX-XX-XXXX.<format suffix>

for example

PPIS-Data-Standard-01-02-2015.pdf

1.2 Management of PPIS

All of PPIS files and documents are available on the OPP website at:

<http://www2.epa.gov/ingredients-used-pesticide-products/pesticide-product-information-system-ppis>

1.3 Contacts

Any entity needing assistance regarding the PPIS should contact the OPP at OPPChemicalSerach@epa.gov. The OPP will then direct questions to responsible for the maintenance or data quality of the PPIS.

2 PPIS SCHEMA DEFINITION

2.1 Overview

This chapter provides a technical reference for the PPIS XML schema definition, as defined in the PPIS XSD schema file. PPIS XML files will be break down by 'ACTIVE' and 'CANCELLED' to keep the file size low and easier to import into your system.

2.2 Filename Format

The PPIS format specification (this document) is versioned using a version numbering schema of type XX-XX-XXXX. It is composed of a date format, MM-DD-YYYY. The file name convention of the PPIS format specification is therefore

PPIS-SEC3-ACTIVE-XX-XX-XXXX.<format suffix>
PPIS-SEC3-CANCELLED-XX-XX-XXXX.<format suffix>
PPIS-SEC24C-ACTIVE-XX-XX-XXXX.<format suffix>
PPIS-SEC24C-CANCELLED-XX-XX-XXXX.<format suffix>

for example

XML:

Section 3: PPIS-SEC3-ACTIVE-01-02-2015.xml
Section 24(c): PPIS-SEC24C-ACTIVE-01-02-2015.xml

XSD: PPIS-SCHEMA-01-02-2015.xsd

2.3 Boilerplate for element description

This chapter contains the boilerplate for the subsequent documentation of the XSD elements including an explanation of the description template.

Please note that this specification contains only main aspects of the actual XSD definition.

2.3.1 Child Elements

This chapter defines the child elements of the element in focus in the form of a table:

Element Name
Xpath
Diagram
Child Element	Definition	Description

Child Element Table – boilerplate sample: child elements definition:

- The row Xpath contains the Xpath expression of the element in an instance.

- The cell next to “Diagram” shows a graphics representation of the element and its direct child elements.
- The rows below “Child Element” contains the child elements of the element in focus. The order of child elements in the parent element is of no significance.
- The column “Definition” contains the definition of the element.
- The column “Description” contains the description of the element.
