The Environmental Protection Agency Honors the Pacific Island Environmental Heroes

“The EPA is pleased and honored to acknowledge the innovative and far-reaching environmental work achieved by this impressive group of organizations and individuals.” “All of this year’s winners — in fact, all of this year’s nominees — have made commendable efforts to protect and preserve our air, water and land.”

~ Wayne Nastri, EPA Regional Administrator

The EPA Region 9 Environmental Awards program acknowledges commitment and significant contributions to the environment in California, Arizona, Nevada, Hawaii, the Pacific Islands and tribal lands. Thirty six groups and individuals were selected from over 150 nominees received this year from businesses, media, local, state and federal government officials, tribes, environmental organizations and citizen activists. The winners are:

MOVER
(Multi-Sectoral Overseas Filipino Workers Movement)
Saipan, MP

MOVER, a non-profit group on Saipan, has taken the initiative to clean up stormwater drainages on Saipan’s western shores — the first major cleanup project of its kind covering a total of 25 drainages. In 2003, MOVER also actively participated in cleanup projects organized by the Environmental Interagency Cleanup Operation Team. Waking up early in the morning and without pay, its members eagerly pack trash from tourist sites and illegal dumping sites to help maintain Saipan’s environment. MOVER tirelessly contributed to the clean up of an illegal dumping site at the old Saipan airport and removed ten trailers of trash from the site. In late 2003, MOVER sought an environmental grant from oil giant Exxon/Mobil to clean up stormwater drainages along Saipan’s western shores. With the $5,000 Exxon/Mobil grant, MOVER began the cleanup of 25 stormwater drainages in January 2004.

American Samoa Power Authority
Solid Waste Division
Pago Pago, American Samoa

The American Samoa Power Authority’s Solid Waste division’s mission is to provide quality, safe, economical and sustainable utility services in partnership with its customers, the community of American Samoa and the Pacific region. The utility continues to introduce to the legislature the Beverage Deposit Bill in hopes of reducing the large volume of material entering the sanitary landfill. Without waiting for this bill to pass, the utility launched a program to reduce the landfill growth by purchasing a glass pulverizer, a can densifier and began to collect glass bottles and aluminum cans. Daily advertisements invited the public to bring glass bottles to the power authority and large bins were placed on the island where tons of glass were collected weekly. The glass pulverizer produces glass sand and pebbles for land enhancement, construction projects or decorative purposes. The utility also began an aluminum collection program at the landfill. Together, these efforts extend the life of the existing landfill and moves toward sustainability.
